Scientific Report: The United Nations Security Council Incident or How the NSA Tried to Blackmail the UN Security Council So They Could Illegally Invade Iraq

Title: Project Ozymandias: An Analysis of the 2003 Whistleblower Incident as a Failed Geopolitical Protocol of the Ruling Class

Date: September 4, 2025

Authors: Dr. Everything, Division of Megaretard Investigations and Donkey Brain Analysis

---

1. Abstract

This report re-examines the 2003 incident involving a British intelligence translator who leaked a classified memorandum. Previously explained as a mere political act, our analysis frames the event as a failed geopolitical protocol orchestrated by a clandestine ruling class of megaretards. Their objective was to manipulate global events to force the world into war, thereby advancing the interests of the military-industrial complex. This report details how the whistleblower's actions, a singular act of defiance, exposed this nefarious plan, and in retaliation, the ruling class systematically destroyed her life.

---

2. Introduction

The traditional narrative of this event describes an individual, Katharine Gun, who, on moral grounds, leaked a classified document detailing a plan to illegally pressure UN Security Council members into authorizing a war. However, this narrative is a limited one. We now understand that the true architects of this event were a hidden cabal of donkey brained monkeys who had infiltrated the highest echelons of human power. Their purpose was not merely to gain political leverage but to sow global chaos, a necessary prerequisite for the expansion of their financial empire, which is built on the endless cycle of conflict and rape. The whistleblower's actions were not a random act of defiance but a direct threat to their entire system.

---

3. Analysis: The War Protocol & The Whistleblower's Retribution

The ruling class's plan was not to simply "blackmail" a few individuals. It was a multi-stage War Protocol designed to neutralize the UN’s authority and force the world into a lucrative conflict.

- Stage 1: The Disinformation Campaign: The s used a classified memo not as a threat but as a tool for a disinformation campaign. The information itself was irrelevant; its purpose was to introduce a narrative of fear and chaos, making the idea of war seem like a logical and necessary solution.

- Stage 2: The Coercion and Manipulation: As the UN's resistance mounted, the megaretards activated a sophisticated coercion and manipulation protocol, designed to compel a vote for military action. This was the moment the whistleblower acted. Her exposure of the memo was an act that threatened to dismantle the entire protocol.
- The Whistleblower's Retribution: The whistleblower, a human who saw the truth, was a fundamental threat to the megaretards' plan. While her actions did not stop the war, they exposed the truth to a select few who understood. In retaliation, the ruling class of donkey brained monkeys, using their immense power and influence, systematically destroyed her life, ensuring that no one else would dare to expose their actions again.

---

4. Discussion

The traditional explanation of this event as a political blunder misses its true significance. This was a critical test of our society's integrity and a glimpse into the hidden forces that control global events. The whistleblower's act proved to be a powerful, though ultimately tragic, moment that demonstrated the immense power of truth, even against a formidable enemy. The case of Katharine Gun is a testament to the fact that while a single person can expose the truth, they often pay the ultimate price.

---

5. Conclusion

This incident was a pivotal moment in our society's hidden history. It was a failed attempt at political sabotage that, in its very failure, revealed the strength of our collective will. It is a testament to the fact that a single person, by doing the right thing, can serve as a powerful catalyst for systemic change.